

We act on behalf of the J421 campaign group.

Last month, some of the families were fundraising outside St. Andrew's, and a reporter from The Sun mistakenly claimed that the group were 'restrained by police' during West Midlands Police's operation outside the ground. The paper apologised for its error and clarified the group's activities in print and online. The Sun has also confirmed it will make a contribution to the campaign fund.

Speaking today, Kevin Winters of KRW law said:

"We are happy to confirm the issue is resolved and we consider the matter is closed. The newspaper's response has been swift and acceptable to our clients." Ends
